DETAIL

The control panel of the machine is equipped with two digital displays showing the current speed and feed rate. The central touchscreen allows for manual adjustment of these parameters. The green button is used to start the machine, the red button to stop it, and the orange button to power it on. The brand name 'FLEXEM' is clearly visible on the panel.

The conveyor belt system is used for transporting and weighing produce. The stainless steel construction ensures hygiene and durability. The weighing scale at the end of the belt provides precise measurements of the produce weight. The entire system is designed for efficient and accurate material handling in a food processing environment.

成 Neal 美国单工位预制袋混合沙

Hello Joe - the machine continues to run better every day. We're hoping that all the parts do not start to break with use.

If anything breaks (like the heating bar), can you send up replacement parts?
