< INTRODUCE >

The DS-350X is an automatic medical disposable syringe packing machine designed and manufactured by Foshan Dession Packaging Machinery Co., Ltd. With a focus on versatility, the machine is capable of efficiently packaging medical disposable syringes, meeting the stringent requirements of the healthcare industry.

< APPLICATION SCENARIOS >

< MACHINE ADVANTAGES >

Hygienic Design: The equipment rack's contact material parts are constructed from 304 stainless steel, ensuring compliance with food safety standards (QS) and maintaining a hygienic packaging environment.

Safety Features: Equipped with comprehensive safety protections in line with enterprise safety management requirements, providing a secure operating environment for both users and the packaged products.

Temperature Control Precision: Independent temperature control system ensures accurate temperature regulation, contributing to the creation of consistently beautiful and flat seals on the packaging.

Servo Control Technology: Utilizes servo control for horizontal sealing, vertical sealing, and feeding, providing independent motor control, PLC control, and touch screen control. This ensures high reliability, intelligence, and efficiency in the packaging process.

Customizable Packaging: The touch screen interface allows users to store various packaging parameters for different products. This feature facilitates quick and easy adjustments when switching between different syringe products, enhancing overall operational efficiency.

Fault Display System: The machinery is equipped with a fault display system, enabling timely identification and resolution of issues. This reduces the need for manual intervention, streamlining the packaging process.

Complete Packaging Solution: From material transportation and coding to bag making, sealing, cutting, and finished product output, the machine offers an all-encompassing solution for the entire packaging process.

Versatility: Capable of producing pillow-shaped bags or other customized bag types to meet specific customer requirements, adding flexibility to the packaging options.

Hello Joe - the machine continues to run better every day. We're hoping that all the parts do not start to break with use.

If anything breaks (like the heating bar), can you send up replacement parts?
