Application

Products suitable for various liquids, can be customized

One machine meets the needs of various products, and products of different shapes can be customized

Product Advantages

Robust Construction: Built from 304 stainless steel, this machine is not only rust-resistant but also durable, ensuring longevity in demanding industrial environments.

Precision Measurement: The machine achieves industry-leading measurement precision of 0.1 ml/bag, catering to even the most delicate liquid products.

Efficiency and Convenience: Featuring frequency conversion control and fault-sensing capabilities, it allows for 24-hour operation without constant supervision, saving both time and labor.

Versatile Bag Types: With the ability to create various bag types, such as 3-side seals and 4-side seals, it adapts to diverse packaging needs, enhancing product presentation.

All-in-One Solution: This machine handles the complete packaging process, from metering and bag-making to filling, sealing, cutting, and even printing dates. This comprehensive automation optimizes production workflows.
